

Members of the Association of Applied Biologists are eligible for a two-year 50% discount on Royal Society of Biology membership

The Royal Society of Biology (RSB) is the UK's leading professional association for anyone who works in or has an interest in the biosciences. We represent, support and engage with more than 17,000 individual members throughout their education and career, as well as more than 90 Member Organisations working in and around the life sciences.

Members of the Association of Applied Biologists will receive a 50% discount in their membership of the RSB. Obtain two memberships for the price of 1.5!

Current membership prices (Regular/student):

AAB: £20-£62

<https://www.aab.org.uk/membership>

RSB: £15-£82

<https://www.rsb.org.uk/membership/individual-membership/associate-amrsb>

Benefits of RSB membership include: gaining recognition through our post nominal letters, professional registers, CPD tools and training courses; staying up to date with the biosciences through our informative newsletters and members' magazine, The Biologist; professional networking opportunities through attending online and UK-wide events; and shaping the future of biology by inputting into our policy work with Government. Members can also apply for exclusive grants and awards, and volunteer at outreach and engagement events.

To join the RSB and take advantage of this discount, please contact membership@rsb.org.uk with a copy of your CV.